

HARRY POTTER AND THE TRANSFORMERS II
Return of the Syndicate Empire
(Finale)

SALLY: Halt!

Immediately the cars and trucks skid to a stop and morph back to mutant forms to face the oncoming armada head-on.

BUNNIE: We're like sitting ducks out here, the Syndicate will fill us with birdshot.

AMY: So what do we do, sit here and let them take the first shot, huh?

SALLY: Our position is vulnerable, Rose. <agrees>

NICOLE: Oh, yeah? <sneers> I'll give them a wild goose chase, a run for their money's worth that is, ha!

The holographic lynx prepares to launch into the air as if she intends on taking on the formation by herself. But her boss is quick to reprimand her of her actions.

SALLY: No! <stops her bodyguard> Your idea is brave, but foolish. You can't hope to take them on alone without backup.

NICOLE: Sorry, my maker...<inclines her head> I did not know.

HARRY: But how do we stop them, Acorn?

HERMIONE: Yes, they're heading this way. Should we stand and fight or retreat for cover?

SALLY: We must divert them away from the water source. Out here we are helpless, pardon my speech.

RON: So what's the best option available to us?

NICOLE: If we move into the forest over yonder, <points it out> we will have some cover and plenty of firepower to boot...

So saying the Alliance forces retreat from the reservoir toward a stand of pine trees miles away. If they can make it there, the forest will shield them from direct attacks. As they pulled back, the princess could see a rear attack is imminent.

SALLY: Stand your ground, ready your laser guns.

Fox, Krystal, Falco, Slippy, Ninjara, Bunny, Amy, Geoffrey, Kato, Tigress lift their laser pistols and rifles skyward and take aim at the oncoming enemy forces, waiting for their leader to give the command to open fire.

SALLY: Fire now!

NICOLE: Fire at will...

A barrage of laser bullets slam headlong into the jets and copters, bouncing off the magic shields protecting the Syndicate mutants who return fire back at their aggressors. Soon bolts of laser light streak back and forth, some hitting their marks which drop good and bad mutants, others take cover and keep on shooting away.

After a moment of trading shots at one another, the mutants now engage in martial arts fighting techniques of karate, kung fu and taekwondo moves of punches, chops, kicks, blocks, blah-blah-blah. Snape and Malfoy occasionally lash out with their wands to stun or paralyze the Rangers and use their skills to avoid being struck back by the heroes of Mobius. Potter and friends retaliate back in kind as the battle rages on, unchecked for the moment. Sally suddenly spots Tai Lung and Panther Carusa, the two feline brothers zooming in the direction of the reservoir, realizing with shock they are carrying large tanks containing the poison mind-control formulas!

SALLY: Good grief! I cannot allow them to dump that substance into the water. Harry, I need your assistance!

HARRY: Here, boss! <joins her side> Uh-oh, <spots escaping aircraft> who's that?

SALLY: Panther and Tai, they have the poison chemicals in those black tanks. <points them out>

HARRY: Whoa, we better stop them, like now.

SALLY: Aye, let's combine our powers together, right? <smirks> Take my hand.

HARRY: Um, this is not the time for us to propose to each other in getting married here.

SALLY: Potter?! <scowls> I don't have time to argue with you, take my hand now! <holds it out>

HARRY: Yes, Acorn. <takes her hand> Now what?

SALLY: Concentrate, allow your magic to become one with my magic and together we shall be one force. <grins at him> Ready?

HARRY: <grins back> Ready.

Nodding, her highness closed her eyes, Harry closed his eyes and immediately both concentrated hard in focusing their powers into one force of magic. All of a sudden a shimmering aura flowed around their bodies, glowing brighter and stronger before it enveloped both of them in its glow and then transformed, elongated into a streaking flash of pure energy that shot skyward and struck full tilt into Panther, Tai, Malfoy and Snape who were accompanying the two felines to deposit the deadly formula into the water source below. Screaming in pain from the impact, the evil wizard and his assistant toppled from their brooms to splash into the water, sink out of sight before surfacing again, briefly stunned and unable to move!

Simultaneously the brothers of Tai and Panther slammed into the ground, bounced and slid along the dirt before coming to a stop, morphing back to mutant selves and groaning in pain, struggled to rise but fell back again, paralyzed. Enraged, Sleuth Dog screamed in fury at the Freedom Fighters, face contorted in rage.

SLEUTH: Curse you, you blasted Freedom Fighters, argh! <angry look on his face> You'll pay for this, all of you will suffer dearly for this insult to my reign of evil forever, I swear it! This is not over yet, I will return...you can count on it!

Then he orders a retreat back to Empire HQ in the far distance with his forces, pausing long enough to retrieve the unconscious bodies of Snape and Malfoy and carry them back to safety. In minutes, they were gone as the wizards, witches, Hagrid and Rangers cheered in triumph at the same time that Sally and Harry re-appeared again and whooped it up, slapped a high five, bumped each other, then grinning they held hands and smiled into each other's faces.

SALLY: We did it, Potter. We stopped the Empire from taking over the Earth again.

HARRY: Yes, we did it.

SALLY: Ahem, I believe you want to tell me something important, he? <winks at him>

HARRY: Yes, leader. <bows to her, then kneels> I want to give you something.

With everyone looking on, Potter Junior pulled out a box from his robe pocket and opening it, held it out to Acorn who stared and gasped in surprise at what lay within it. It turned out to be a shining gold ring on a velvet cushion.

SALLY: Ooooooh, oh my?! It-it's beautiful!

HARRY: <takes ring out of box> Sally Acorn, leader of Freedom Fighters of the planet Mobius...<still on one knee> I, Harry Potter of HogWarts School ask you...will you marry me and be my wife?

SALLY: Harry...<pauses before shouting it out> YES! Yes, I will marry you, of course I will!

As everybody cheered, humans and mutants that is, Potter stood up and placed the ring on Acorn's middle finger of either her left or right hand, then pulled her into his body as they embraced each other and hugged tightly, laughing in happiness with tears of joy running down their faces. Then they kissed each other and held it for a long time.

Upon returning to HogWarts Castle, a wedding ceremony took place between Acorn and Potter with everyone in attendance as witnesses; Hermione, Ron, Neville, Ginny, Luna, Hagrid, McGonagall, Fox, Falco, Krystal, Ninjara, Amy, Bunnie, Kato, Geoffrey and Tigress with Dumbledore acting as minister presiding over the happy couple, reading the vows of marriage, etc. In the end, Harry Potter and Sally Acorn were wedded as husband and wife and rode off in a magic carriage to begin their honeymoon together for the first time. And...THE WAR CONTINUES!!!

THE END